Dear Member,

The National Conference of Artists New York, Inc. (NCANY) thanks you for your monetary contribution to the organization. We appreciate your time and interest.

Founded in 1959, the National Conference of Artists is the oldest visual arts organization in the United States devoted to promoting the work of artists of the African Diaspora. The New York chapter was formed in 1973 and our current corporate organization structure was formed in 2005. National Conference of Artists New York, Inc. continues to be a member-driven 501C3 service provider to the arts community.

The Council of Artists' mission is to preserve, promote and develop the creative forces and expressions of African Diasporan artists. Our major objective is to organize members into a cohesive unit to improve the position of African Diasporan artists within America and the world community. Through research in the arts, annual conventions, regional meetings, visitation, public and social media, it seeks to bring artists together to discuss mutual concerns, to exchange ideas and promote cultural exchange and interchange of local, national, and international origin.

With the extraordinary support we have received from you, our wonderful members, family and friends, the Conference of Artists continues to exercise its voice in the American artistic dialogue. Please stay with us. We need your help to continue providing events, programs, and service, that reflect the positive spirit and image of the human family, and our environment.
